

Gerald Lederer (Legal Counsel, IMF)

Gerald holds a doctorate degree in Law from the University of Vienna and is a Counsel in the IMF legal department, where he specializes in advising on legal questions related to Fintech, banking supervision and resolution. Prior to his engagement at the IMF, Gerald was working on legislative dossiers in the areas of digital finance and banking law in the Council of the European Union. He also served as a Financial Services Attaché at the Permanent Representation of Austria to the EU, and as a legal expert in the Austrian Financial Markets Authority. In both capacities, he specialized in prudential banking regulation and bank resolution.