

LUÍS CAMPOS E CUNHA, Professor of Economics, School of Economics, Universidade Nova de Lisboa, Portugal

Education

“Licenciatura”, Universidade Católica Portuguesa (1977); Columbia University, MA (1981), PhD (1985); “Agregação” in International Economics, Universidade Nova de Lisboa, School of Economics (1992).

Other

Since January 1st, 2006 is a non-executive Board Member of Fundação Serralves (private foundation for the arts); former Minister of Finance (2005); Dean, School of Economics (Faculdade de Economia), Universidade Nova de Lisboa, (2002-2004); Deputy Governor, Banco de Portugal (1996-2002); Member of the International Relations Committee of the European Central Bank, in Frankfurt (1998-2002); Member of the Monetary/Economic and Financial Committee, in Brussels, (1998-2001); Professor of Economics (since 1995), Associate Professor (1991-95), Assistant Professor (1985-1991), School of Economics, Universidade Nova de Lisboa.

Awarded the Alfred Sloan Doctoral Dissertation Fellowship in 1984

Fulbright Student: 1980-85

Consultant for public and private Institutions both in Portugal and abroad.