

Serhan Cevik, Senior Economist, International Monetary Fund

Serhan Cevik is a Senior Economist in the European Department of the International Monetary Fund (IMF). In his IMF career, he has worked on a variety of advanced economies, emerging markets, and low-income countries. Prior to joining the Fund in 2009, he worked at Morgan Stanley and Nomura as chief emerging markets economist.